Dear Graduates,

Congratulations on attaining this major achievement in your educational journey! Although we are not able to be together in person, we are very happy that you are joining us virtually to celebrate the long hours of study and the investment in your future. No great accomplishment was earned without support though. Please take this opportunity to thank all of those people in your life who helped in this endeavor. We at Ellsworth are extremely appreciative that you chose us to be a part of your academic journey.

Besides celebration, commencement is also an occasion to reflect. It is a time to look back on your time at Ellsworth. What were those accomplishments or activities of which you are most proud? What new experiences did you try and what did you learn? What did you not do, but wish you had? Were you able to make a positive impact on your classmates and the community? Taking this time to reflect will better prepare you for the next steps in your life. I recommend that you write down your long-term goals and the steps you need to accomplish them. It will help make sure that the steps you are now taking lead you to where you want to be in the future.

While your educational experience at Ellsworth is coming to a close, your next journey is just beginning. Continue to value learning prominently in your future. It does not matter if you are planning to earn a bachelor's degree or enter the workforce. You will need to continually learn in order to reach your personal and Professional goals throughout your life.

As you start your next adventure, please make sure you stay in touch with the faculty and staff at Ellsworth. We want to know of your successes and how we can help in difficult times. On behalf of all of us at Ellsworth, I heartily congratulate you and wish you all the best in your future endeavors. As the Chinese proverb goes, "the journey is the reward."

Cordially,

A handwritten signature in black ink that reads "Martin Reimer". The signature is written in a cursive style with a large, looped initial "M".

Honoring the Graduates of 2021

Our Alma Mater by William Thalman

Let us join in a song for old Ellsworth,
the school that we all so revere.
Let us sing of her virtues and glories,
of her classic fame far and near.
She's the pride of the faithful and noble,
the bright pilot star of our band.
She twines laurel wreaths for her victors,
whom she crowns with a generous hand.

Chorus

Dear old Ellsworth, Ellsworth, our alma mater.
Ne'er we'll forget thee, ne'er we'll forsake thee.
Ever we'll love thee, to thee we'll be true.

Oh the sons and the daughters of Ellsworth,
to her ever loyal will be.
And her hopes and her counsels they'll carry far out on life's rugged sea.
Oh the days we spent here we'll e'er cherish
as long as life's memory shall last.
And the noble ambitions she gave us will endure e'en when ages have passed.

Eugene Stafford Ellsworth

Founder and Benefactor Ellsworth Community College

History

In the more than one hundred twenty-seven years since its founding by Eugene S. Ellsworth in 1890, the College has evolved through many transitions in its mission to serve the changing needs of its public. Founded as a business academy, the institution became a four-year college, a music conservatory, and a public junior college before emerging as the comprehensive community college it is today under the jurisdiction of Iowa Valley Community College District.

Academic Regalia

The modern academic profession reflects traditions inherited from the medieval universities, when a member of the teaching guild was a Master of Arts and a Bachelor was his apprentice. Long robes and warm hoods served to protect scholars from the cold in drafty rooms and corridors. As a token of privilege and responsibility, the Master wore a warmer and more distinguished costume than the Bachelor, and a Doctor might wear a hood lined with fur.

While this is no longer everyday apparel, it is worn on significant academic occasions to symbolize the world of scholarship. In the commencement ceremony the new graduates are visibly received into the community of scholars, taking their place in the great traditions of academic life.

The dignity and meaning of academic costume is protected by careful regulation. In the United States, nearly all institutions adhere to a national code adopted in 1895 and revised in 1932.

THE CAP: The familiar “mortarboard” is made of black cloth with a tassel the color of the wearer’s “faculty” or discipline. Doctors in all fields may wear a tassel of metallic gold.

THE GOWN: The cut of the gown indicates the wearer’s degree. A Bachelor wears a simple gown with pointed sleeves; a master’s gown has long, closed sleeves with a slit at the arm or wrist; and a Doctor wears a very full gown with billowing bell-shaped sleeves. In addition, the Doctor’s gown has velvet panels on the front and three velvet bars on each sleeve, which may be black or the color distinctive of his discipline or College.

THE HOOD: The color of the velvet border signifies the discipline of the degree, while the color of the interior lining identifies the institution, normally used by its school colors. The hood of a Bachelor is three feet long; that of a Master, three and one-half feet; and that of a Doctor, four feet.
